

19 terms

1. Info: Basic information, including license name and version number, release date, license copyright notice and address of the original license link.
2. Preamble: Used to describe the scenarios or conditions of application, acceptance of terms, and purpose of the license, such as in the preamble to the GPL.
3. Define: Used to clarify specific terms in the license terms to facilitate the user's understanding of the license content.
4. Copyright: Copyright Grant.
5. Trademark: Trademark Rights Restrictions.
6. Patent: Patent Grant
7. Copyleft
8. Interaction: Need disclose code when making the Contribution or Derivative Work available to others through any medium, and using the Contribution or Derivative Work to provide online services to users, such as the act of providing online services through a cloud service platform built using Contributions or Derivative Works.
9. Modification: Modification Statement
10. Retain_attr: Retention of attribution
11. Enhance_attr: Enhancement of attribution
12. Acceptance: Requires the licensee to clearly indicate acceptance of the terms of the license
13. Vio_termi: Terminate its license granted to the licensee if the licensee violates the license.
14. Patent_termi: If the licensee initiates a patent infringement action (including a counterclaim or cross-claim in the action) or other patent defense action against any person, the patent license granted to the licensee terminates as of the date of the initiation of the patent action or patent defense action.
15. Disclaimer
16. Law
17. Instruction
18. Compatible_version
19. Secondary_license

copyright takes the values -1, 0, 1 (indicating public domain, vague copyright, explicit copyright, respectively); copyleft takes the values 0, 1, 2, 3 (indicating loose, file-level weak restriction, library-level weak restriction, restriction, respectively); patent takes the values -1, 0, 1 (indicating no patent, no mention, explicit patent, respectively). law takes the values 0, [country] (indicating no mention, specified country law, respectively); compatible_version takes the values 0, [license] (indicating no mention, compatible version of license, respectively); secondary_license takes the values 0, [license] (indicating no mention, compatible secondary license); the rest of the dimensions take the values 0, 1 (indicating no mention, explicit inclusion of the clause, respectively)

The knowledge base is available at:

<https://github.com/osslab-pku/RecLicense/tree/master/backend/app/knowledgebase>